

Depending on staff capacity, the following engineering firms are able to offer some pro-bono assistance to high-need communities on their ITEP proposals. Examples of support include engineering cost estimates, project scope development, grant writing support, and other technical assistance. Many of these firms are also willing to brainstorm and provide general advice to local communities and are also available for-hire.

Important Note: Providing pro-bono application support does NOT guarantee a firm will be selected for paid work. It also does NOT mean that the project sponsor can skip the Quality Based Selection (QBS) process. Because ITEP uses federal funding, QBS must be followed for any services that will ultimately be granted funds by the ITEP award.
